FRANCE WILL MEET RUSS ON NON-POLITICAL BASIS ONLY

Also Insists Upon Referring Decisions To Paris

WORK IS STARTED

Hague Sessions Start In Atmosphere Of Cordiality

(Reuter's Service)

The Hague, June 20.—The Non-Russian Commission has completed its preliminary work amid an atmosphere of great cordiality.

France's consent to participate in the commission to meet the Russians is based on the understanding that the conference will be non-political and that all decisions shall be referred to the respective Governments.

London, June 20.—Friendly editorial articles are devoted to the visit of the French Premier, M. Poincare, who left for home yesterday evening, being seen off by Mr. Lloyd George and other distinguished personages. The press points out that as a social rather than a political event the visit was a great success and the hope is expressed that the sincerely friendly welcome will go far to check the recent acerbity of Anglo-French controversies.

The conference between M. Poincare and Mr. Lloyd George, which lasted nearly three hours, seems to have been most cordial and to have effected a substantial rapprochement between the divergent standpoints. The question of the Anglo-French pact was not touched upon, the French Premier apparently agreeing that the pact could only be advantageously concluded after a settlement of the Near East and other questions. Besides the reparations understanding (cabled earlier), it was agreed that both Governments should expedite the appointment of a commission of inquiry into the alleged atrocities in Anatolia and to discuss the Eastern question again when the report was available. The French point of view was that efforts should be made to bring about a meeting of the belligerent countries, free of any restricting conditions.

There is a prospect of a fresh meeting of the Premiers next month.

The Hague, June 19.—France has intimated her readiness to participate in the commission to meet the Russians on which 22 states will be represented.

GERMAN INQUIRY

London, June 19.—After the conference between Mr. Lloyd George and M. Poincare it was officially announced that the Reparations Commission would conduct an inquiry into means of re-establishing Germany's finances.

M. Poincare will return to London probably at the end of July to discuss the report of the Commission. Meanwhile no coercive measures against Germany are contemplated.

London, June 19.—M. Poincare this morning placed a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Warrior in Westminster Abbey. In the course of a speech he said: "France will never forget the help he gave us, thus cementing unalterable friendship between the two countries."

Mr. Lloyd George entertained M. Poincare and Marshal Petain to luncheon at Downing Street, at which the Members of the Cabinet, the French Ambassador, Lord Stamfordham and Lord Derby were present. After the luncheon Mr. Lloyd George and M. Poincare had a conference.

POINCARE RETURNS

M. Poincare will leave for Paris this evening to attend a meeting of the Council of Ministers to discuss the question of French participation in the Hague Commission to meet the Russians.

There were no speeches, Mr. Lloyd George merely toasting the

Chinese Organisations Protest Reported Plan To Land Soldiers Here

Announcement Of Newly Appointed Admiral's Intention To Bring Troops To Displace Ho Causes Grave Concern

Opposition was registered at a meeting of the local organisations held at the Nantao Chamber of Commerce yesterday against the coming of Admiral Tu Sih-kwei, newly appointed Commander-in-chief of the Chinese Admiralty, who is reported to be coming with 6,000 men to be used to assist in land fighting.

Tu announced his intention of coming to Shanghai following the demand made by General Wu Pei-fu, the victorious Chihli leader, on Peking for the dismissal of the local Defense Commissioner, General Ho Feng-lin. In a memorandum filed with the Central Government, General Wu objects seriously to Shanghai's remaining under the jurisdiction of Chekiang and suggests that Ho's successor be placed under the direction of the Kiangsu Tuchun.

In response to the demand, General Ho announced that while he is willing to relinquish his post in line with the general desire to abolish the tuchun system, he resents Admiral Tu's attempt to threaten him and to enforce General Wu Pei-fu's demand by sending the 6,000 troops to offset the present forces of General Ho, which consists of some 7,500 men.

WAR SHIPS DUE

Two warships were reported to be due in Shanghai yesterday afternoon from Nanking under the command of Admiral Tu, but at a late hour last night, the report could not be confirmed. The report, however, had already brought panic among the Chinese residents in Nantao, many of whom moved into the Settlements yesterday afternoon for safety.

It was also reported yesterday that in the event of Admiral Tu landing his troops in Shanghai, a certain local bureau will assist him in open hostilities against General Ho. This bureau has 3,000 armed men at its disposal in Nantao and Chapei and would have been a deciding factor in case of military operations in the Chinese territory. Another report stated that 2,000 troops of the Chihli party had previously been shipped to Shanghai in plain clothes and are being housed under the direction of this local bureau.

The action of General Wu is based on a report made by Tuchun Chi Shih-yuan of Kiangsu, who has always felt bitterly the attempt of Shanghai from his province and consequently the removal of [illegible] Wu acceded to the request of Chi in view of the services rendered to the Chihli cause by the Nanking Tuchun in the recent internecine war.

ADMIRAL SENDS WORD

At the same time, General Ho has received word from Admiral Tu Sih-kwei that he is coming to Shanghai to take over his office.

Yesterday's meeting resulted in the sending of the following telegram to the Cabinet, the Ministries of War and Navy, Tuchun Chi Sih-yuan of Nanking and the Commander-in-chief of the Navy:

"The press reports that Admiral Tu Sih-kwei, in assuming his new post as Commander-in-chief of the Navy, is bringing to Shanghai 6,000 troops to be utilised a naval landing parties. The stationing of troops in Commercial Ports is disfavored by Chinese as well as foreign merchants on account of their harmfulness.

"The military and naval defence forces in Shanghai have been increased ten times since the fall of the Manchu regime. Every time there is a political crisis, the city is panic-stricken on account of the presence of these forces, because a slight clash might result in the precipitation of a great catastrophe. This is concrete evidence that the increase of soldiery has no benefit on the local situation, while it tends to disturb the order and peace of the district.

"The recent change in North China gives us hope that a new era is dawning upon the Republic and that even the present forces would be withdrawn at the earliest oppotunity in order to bring genuine internal peace to the nation. It is highly undesirable that further troops be stationed here and create consternation among the business interests in Shanghai."

The message was signed by the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce of the International Settlement and the Nantao Chamber of Commerce.

FIVE CHINESE ARRAIGNED ON MURDER CHARGE

Slaying Of Cantonese Alleged Result Of Fight Over Woman

A special hearing in the case of five Chinese on the charge of murder of a Cantonese, alleged to have been committed on May 3, 1922, came up before American Assessor Jacobs and Magistrate Loh in the Mixed Court yesterday afternoon.

From the evidence produced in court it appears that there was a quarrel preceding the murder, between Cantonese and Kompo men over a Cantonese woman, the concubine or sweetheart of a man Sia Van-sin, whom the police so far have been unable to arrest.

The woman was offended by the fourth accused who would not allow her to use the telephone, according to her story in court today. The woman stated in the witness box that the fourth accused tried to entice her to a hotel "which was not proper."

A fight ensued, in which one man was killed by the blow of a hammer, alleged to have been used by the first accused. The fourth and fifth accused were stabbed in the back. When they made a report in the Wayside police station they were also locked up and charged with murder.

At this afternoon's hearing most conflicting evidence was given by the different Chinese police constables.

The court refused the application made by the defendant's counsel to dismiss the case after the prosecution had finished pointing out the seriousness of the charge, and decided to hear the evidence of the accused.

The case was remanded until Thursday, after police cases.

Mr. Faithful prosecuted on the behalf of the police. The first and second accused were defended by Mr. Schoenfeld, the third by Mr. Goldring and the fourth and fifth Golding and the fourth and fifth by Dr. O. Fischer.

SOUTH IRELAND ELECTIONS GOING FOR THE TREATY

Four Antis In Dublin Ousted By Independents

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 20.—The South [illegible] are still going strongly for the Treaty. The Independents have ousted four anti-Treaty candidates in Dublin. Lord Mayor O'Neill and Alderman Byrne head the list for mid-Dublin with enormous majorities. Only two women have hitherto been elected. Two pro-Treaty Independents head the poll for Cork County which is generally regarding as more Republican than Cork City.

Five pro-Treaty candidates were elected in County Galway. The famous pro-Treaty General McKeown headed the poll with a large majority for Longford. The successful candidates include a number of Labor men.

London, June 19.—The anti-Treaty party is dismayed at the results of the Irish elections up to the present, especially the contests in Cork City, Monaghan and the National University which showed pro-treaty preferences respectively of 4 to 2, 3 to 1 and 3 to 1. A Labor candidate in Cork easily topped the list, triumphing over all the Coalition nominees. The net results of contested and unopposed returns up to the present show 29 for the Treaty and 20 against the Treaty.

It is declared that the Dublin result was a triumph for proportional representation, a supporter of which declares that the Collins-de Valera pact aimed at elimination of the Treaty as an issue but the proportional system enabled the voters to record their opinions. The situation is complicated by the declared hostility of the Republicans to the Constitution for which reason Mr. de Valera cancelled his visit to Scotland. He had a long conference with his colleagues on Saturday. It is expected that a statement will be issued by the conference that it decided the fate of the Collins-de Valera pact which will possibly cease to exist even before the new Parliament meets.

URGA AMERICAN IS INVOLVED IN CZECH'S DEATH

Violation Of Promise To Return Led To His Death

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 17.—Rather conflicting reports have recently reached Peking regarding the alleged kidnapping of Mr. Kuhnhard, a Czecho-Slovak citizen, from Kalgan, but certain main facts have now been received which throw some light on this extraordinary incident.

According to one set of reports Kuhnhard was in custody at Urga and Williams, an American citizen formerly in the employ of the Mongolian Trading Company, guaranteed to the Urga Authorities that Kuhnhard would return when called upon if he were allowed to go to Kalgan where his wife resided. It is also stated that several charges of a grave nature were pending against Mr. Kuhnhard. The latter returned to Kalgan and it is stated that he refused to return to Urga when requested by Williams to do so. Certainly messages were sent to Kuhnhard which he disregarded.

Williams then visited Kalgan, and a German named Nagel visited Kuhnhard and had dinner with the latter and the two men left the house together. Nothing further was seen of Kuhnhard in Kalgan. It is alleged, however, that he voluntarily left Kalgan with Williams in a motor car but that after travelling some distance he refused to continue the journey and that a fight occurred in which Kuhnhard suffered an injury to his eye among other knocks.

A day or two later an American official coming from Urga met the car driven by Williams and noticing that Kuhnhard was apparently bound prevailed upon Williams to turn back to Kalgan. The return journey was carried out without incident for seventy miles, when the Mongolian frontier was reached at Udeh. Here the Mongol guards demanded to be shown the passports of the travellers. Williams had passports from Kalgan to Urga, but none permitting a return to Kalgan and the Mongol guards insisted that the car should continue its journey to Urga. In due course Williams and Kuhnhard reached Urga. It is stated that the car went first to the compound of a foreign company where a Bolshevik guard was waiting, and that Mr. Kuhnhard died a few days later. The death has not been officially confirmed nor the sensational reports regarding the cause of death.

PRESIDENT LI WILL RECEIVE LEGATIONS' O.K. TOMORROW

Diplomats To Attend Reception At His Residence

AID FOR SCHOOL

Customs Surplus To Provide $200,000 Relief

BY JOSEF W. HALL
Staff Correspondent the China Press

Peking—Kao En-hung, temporarily acting as minister of education, has tackled the problem of providing educational funds with his usual initiative. For one thing he has obtained the consent of President Li to use the revenues that formerly attached to the Presidential office for the primary and middle schools. President Li pointed out that if he received any public money he would only pass it along to educational or philanthropic enterprises, as his private income is sufficient for his personal needs. Li probably will set a presidential precedent by paying his own salary and expenses.

It is now assured that the diplomats in Peking will attend President Li's reception Thursday, thus implying their acceptance of him as the actual head of the Chinese government.

The cessation of fighting on the Manchurian front and the elimination of the Canton government has removed all question of his de facto position, regardless of the president's own statements regarding his status.

Two hundred thousand dollars of the half million to be alloted from the customs surplus is to go to educational and other pressing expenditures, the remaining $300,000 to be used for assembling the parliament. Funds have already been forwarded to the Canton parliamentarians for traveling expenses.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 19.—It is reported that General Yin Hsueh-huang, former President of the Gendarmerie Training Academy, is to be appointed commander-in-chief of the Gendarmerie in succession to General Chen Ching-yun who is to be transferred to another post.

Peking, June 19.—As a sequel to the declaration of "self-government" by the Three Eastern Provinces, the drafting of a constitution has been referred to a central conference representing the three provincial assemblies concerned. After delegating four of its members to attend this conference, the Kirin Assembly telegraphed to Mukden on June 14, stipulating that having drafted a constitution, this conference should submit it to the various assemblies for approval.

Peking, June 20.—General Chang Tso-lin telegraphed to the Government on June 18 saying that he would begin to withdraw his troops on the morning of June 19 from Shanhaikwan. General Wang Chan-yuan and General Sung Hsiao-lien left Peking this morning for the purposing of reporting to the Government regarding the evacuation.

Peking, June 20.—Official telegrams from Canton state that Dr. Wu Ting-fang and his son Mr. C. C. Wu also boarded a Chinese warship about the time General Chen Chiung-ming reached Canton, namely June 16. Mr. Sun Hung-yi, speaker of the Canton Parliament, has telegraphed to General Li Lieh-chun imploring him to bring back the troops to Canton to save the situation for Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

Peking, June 20.—Foreign official telegrams report that 19 trains, with 358 cars, loaded with Fengtien troops, horses, guns and munitions, passed through the Great Wall yesterday and also that large numbers on horse and foot marched out of Shanhaikuan, which is now apparently clear. The through train service between Peking and Shanhaikuan is being resumed today.

Hongkon, June 20.—The special correspondent of the Hongkong Telegraph at Canton learns that the American Consul protested to Dr. Sun Yat-sen against the firing on a mission building and another American building, endangering the lives of Americans. The Consul understood Dr. Sun was going to order the continuation of the bombardment and told him that no military object could be attained by the destruction of the property as the Americans were in no way concerned in the affair. Dr. Sun replied that there would be no further bombardment of the Bund.

WU PEI-FU ASKS NOTED CANTONESE TO VISIT PEKING

Chihli Leader Sends Telegrams To Li And Wu Ting-fang

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, June 17.—Telegrams that have been received in Peking report that General Li Lieh-chun, who was in charge of the Sun Yat-sen Northern expedition, had died. The telegrams also said that the death had caused a marked change in the political situation and that martial law had been declared.

Since General Li was one of the mainstays of the expedition and one who was relied upon to preserve order, it was said that General Chen Chuin-ming had been asked by Dr. Sun to come to Canton at once and consult with him on the best means of dealing with the North. The reception accorded to President Li in the North has caused Dr. Sun to become somewhat despondent and it is said that he fears he will sooner or later be forced out of power.

The body of Li Lieh-chun has been taken to Nanhsuing, these telegrams said. The political unrest is said to be increasing in Canton as a result of the rumors. Persons in political circles who heard of the telegram said they expected the political situation to undergo some marked changes in the next few days.

SENDS MESSAGE

Despite the rumor of his death General Wu Pei-fu has sent a telegram to General Li Lieh-chun, the general phrasing of which is as follows:

"You have long been known to me by name but on account of the deplorable trouble of the country, it has deprived me of the pleasure of meeting you. During these years your military service has been in Szechuen, Yunnanfu, Canton and Kueilin for the protection of our country and its laws.

"Your suffering and hardship has caused me much anxiety and it has been a sort of deep regret that your fame and talent have been so concealed by the domestic struggle. Though our conditions be different, our hearts must show the same faithful service toward our nation and the future generation. Now Hsu Shih-chang has resigned, and President Li Yuan-hung has come to the Capital and the third Parliament of the 6th year has been dissolved. This makes the best of chances for settling all questions mutually, and your burden will likewise be lessened.

"The country no longer belongs to one party or one clique only, but is the public's. I hope that you will treat me as an intimate friend, so I shall expect you to come North for a personal interview, and as an example to other Generals of the South.

"The rumor has reached me that it is your desire and expectation to occupy Kiangsi permanently, but I am refusing to believe that it is true."

WIRE TO WU

Another telegram sent by General Wu Pei-fu on the 11th instant was to Wu Ting-fang, the gist of which is as follows:

"Since the Republic of China was established, repeated calamities have occurred which have twice dissolved the legal organisation. During the change of the sixth year, when you were Premier, you were able to refuse signing the mandate to dissolve parliament, protected the laws of the country and sought justice and right for the people. But after the laws were violated you joined with some of the leaders of the South.

"Now the people know that laws should be restored for the purpose of establishing a permanent condition of safety. This chance for restoration is now granted to you. At present the Capital is quiet and peaceful. Hsu Shih-chang resigned, President Li Yuan-hung returned to the capital to resume the presidency and the third parliament of the sixth year has been dissolved.

"The merit of protecting the laws has been proven and this is the time to improve and establish a fixed policy for the country. I as well as the people of the country expect you to come to the North for consultation in settling the problems and question of the nation. If it is impossible for you to leave Canton immediately, will you please have your son Dr. C. C. Wu come as your representative. I await your telegraphic response."

South Insists Upon Sun For Presidency

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, June 16.—What terms will the South advance before considering coming North for a reunification party. The latest answer is that four distinct suggestions are made.

It appears that in the eighth year of the Republic, an extraordinary session of Parliament was held in Canton in which certain members were impeached from office. Consequently, when the Parliament meets in Peking, the Southern forces do not wish former members to be allowed to take their seats. This will probably cause vacancies, and in order to make up a quorum, they recommend the election of new members.

Their next proposal is startling in that they insist on Dr. Sun Yat-sen as the ultimate holder of the Presidency under the united Government. However, until such time as the plans have been worked out for this union, they are willing to have President Li Yuan-hung remain in office as President for the time being.

They are in accord with the general feeling in the North when they request that the Tuchuns and their huge armies must go. They set a limit of five months in which this shall be accomplished.

The final term of the present rumor, is that publicity be given to the nature and conditions of all loans, both foreign and domestic, made since the dissolution of the Parliament. They would have no loan escape the limelight, inasmuch as it is stipulated that long and short term ones alike shall be exposed.

Name Commission For Disbandment

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, June 16.—At yesterday's meeting the cabinet discussed the disbandment of superfluous troops. President Li was in attendance and the outcome was the creation of a National Commission for the Disbandment of Troops. General Wang Shih-chen was appointed Chairman of this body. It will be remembered that General Wang had been urged by former President Hsu to form a cabinet but has not accepted the invitation.

Li Lieh-chun who is now leading his Southern army toward the north, being somewhere between the Kangsi and Honan borders has been appointed Vice Chairman of this National Commission for the Disbandment of Troops. This is a step in the line of reunification and is striking right at the heart of excessive militarism. Word has not yet been received as to whether Mr. Li has accepted this new post.

Li Criticised As Precedent Breaker

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, June 17.—Already the Chinese advocates of precedent are up in arms over the appearance of President Li Yuan-hung at the Cabinet meeting on Wednesday. Fundamentally they deplore this upsetting of practice and feel that as it has never been done before it should not now. They advance the reason that his presence will embarrass Cabinet members in their discussion.

They suggest that the old plan of having spectator's benches be adopted. Tickets can then be issued to those interested in hearing the Cabinet meetings. They also feel that the former system of giving dinners to the members will foster closer relations than his mere presence at the regular meetings.

More than one thousand people were present among whom were: Hon. Yuen Hsi-tao, formerly minister of education at Peking; H. E. Wang Hu, civil governor; Mr. Tsu Ping-chuin, representative of Tuchun Chi Sih-yuen; Mr. Wen Pei-shan, commissioner of foreign affairs; Mr. Chang Chieh-er, commissioner of industry; Mr. Ni Chia-chi, commissioner of finance; Dr. D. F. Price, of the Nanking Theological Seminary; Dr. K. S. Liu, vice-president of the National Southeastern University; and Mr. Wu Tong-chuh, of the Commercial Press.

Starting from the Science Hall, the procession of graduating students from colleges to the kindergarten marched in a dignified manner, with the faculty and the honored guests of the city. The entire procession extended over 100 feet long. The sophomores and freshmen of the University and friends of the students who had entered the Chapel previously all stood up as soon as the procession entered. The faculty and the honored guests were all seated in the Choir loft and on the platform.

F. E. Milne Testifies In Freeman Building Suit

Member Of Defendant Firm Of Architects Heard At Sessions Of British Supreme Court

Hearing of the suit of Mrs. L. E. D. Freeman against the firm of Cumine and Milne, basis of which is the alleged faulty and inaccurate building of a house in the French Concession for which the sum of $6,000 damages is being claimed, was resumed yesterday before Judge Peter Grain in the British Supreme Court.

In the suit Mr. A. E. Seddon is appearing for the defendant firm and Mr. Langley Smith for Mrs. Freeman. Mr. F. E. Milne of the firm was on the stand through yesterday's sessions of court and in the course of his examination by counsel for both sides he testified exhaustively concerning details in connection with the building contract.

Mr. Milne, examined by Mr. Seddon, testified that previous to the signing of the contract, the contractor had asked him whether he had sold the plans to the plaintiff. If a plan is sold the architect takes no responsibility, witness explained. The contractor said he was not prepared to do the work unless Cumine and Milne supervised. Witness said he had not sold the plans. When he first heard of the encroachment he had telephoned to the French Muncipal Council Public Works and asked that an official should meet him on the site. Shortly after the builder came round to the office and told witness that Mr. Freeman was anxious to pull down the building. Witness had a consultation with Mr. Freeman and it was agreed to set the wall back. The wall was then four feet high, and the contractor's men started to pull it down right away. He issued the certificate for the second instalment of money on the building costs.

With regard to pulling down what is necessary so that the building will be in the same form as originally?—I did not pull down the building. By setting back the bath room I got the rooms of proper size.

Did you ever make that suggestion?—The contractor came and offered to do it free of charge. I do remember whether or not I made that suggestion.

Do you ever remember writing to the plaintiff regarding the setting back of the bath room wall?—Yes. They would put the building in the proper way except as regards light and air. The rear rooms are larger than shown in the plans. There is a difference of four inches.

The Judge: You could not get your six feet verandah on the roadway?—I could not.

If the building was put back you would have had a six foot verandah?—Yes.

Were you instructed to build the building right up to the roadway?—Yes.

When Mr. Seddon rontinued his examination, witness said he had never told Mr. Freeman that if he did not build in front the French Municipal Council would take the land.

Do you remember that you suggested that the building should be right up to the roadway?—They asked for a wide verandah. I suggested the building be set back and a garden in front. Mrs. Freeman returned the next morning and said she would rather have it as shown on the plan.

Was any complaint made to you about the bricks?—When the first consignment arrived, Mr. Freeman came to me and said it was not of the size and quality specified. I told him that at the present time there was great difficulty in getting bricks because of the floods, and there was no lime. I suggested that building operations be postponed until such time as better bricks could be had.

Do you know whether there were any alterations made to the building other than what you authorised?—Two piers in the rear on the south side.

What was the extent of that alteration?—They were pulled down and rebuilt.

Who did it?—I was told that Mr. Freeman gave the orders.

Mr. Langley-Smith objected to that question going in, and His Lordship ruled the question out.

Cross-examined by Mr. Langley-Smith, witness said he was not a member of the Royal Institute of Architects, nor was he a member of the local institute. He had been in Shanghai for five years and a half and was previously in Hankow.

You say you asked for plans from Mr. Freeman showing the dimensions of the property?—Mr. Cumine did.

Did you hear any reasons given why the plan was not forthcoming?—They said they had not one.

When you first went to the site how many stones did you see?—I saw one road stone on the North-western corner. I did not see any Freeman property stone. By road stone I mean boundary stone.

I put it to you that you did not take the trouble to look at these plans?—I did not see them.

Don't you think it was up to you as an architect to go to the French Municipal Council and ask for a plan?—I did. I sent an assistant.

Don't you think it was up to you to go to the French Council?—The duty is that of the owner. In every case it is the owner who should bring the plan.

Have you any idea as to when the extra stone was put in?—No.

Would you say that the French Municipal inspector was telling an untruth when he states that the stones were there when you went to inspect the ground?—I did not see them all.

How far was the bamboo fence from the line?—Four or five feet in the deepest portion.

Were you present when the chalk line was thrown out?—The contractor's duty is to do that.

What were your instructions to the contractor?—My instructions to the contractor was that he should build right up to the road.

Don't you think it was your duty to go with the contractor and sketch out the line?—The contractor is responsible.

The Judge: How did you show him on the plan where the road was?—The plan shows it.

The Judge: No, the plan does not show it.—I have taken the line of the road.

The Judge: When you gave instructions to the contractor you did not give the road line. The plan does not show where the road is. How is the contractor to know where the roadway is? You have just said that the fence did not show the boundary. I want you to tell me how you explained to the contractor where the roadway was.—It ran round the fence between the two boundaries.

Coming to the plans, you said that Mr. Freeman refused the first set of plans as the rooms were small. Why did he say that the rooms were small? Don't you remember that he stated that he wished to get Tls. 100 to Tls. 125 per month for the flats?—He did not.

You knew that he wanted the flats for commercial purposes?—Yes, but he did not mention this in the first instance.

To get a reasonable return he must rent at Tls. 100 to Tls. 125. You would imagine that he would rent these rooms at a rental to bring a sufficient sum to refund the outlay in 16 years—He did not give us an idea of the outlay. The Freemans had no idea of what was wanted:

The average person who comes to you knows nothing about building?—They always have some idea of the expenditure.

You mentioned alterations from a wooden to a concrete floor. When was that alteration made?—On May 10.

That was before the contractor submitted his estimate?—Yes, the estimates were submitted on August 17. The time when the contract was signed the alteration from wood to concrete floor was agreed upon with the contractor and the contractor signed the contract on September 4. The contract was signed after the alteration.

When did the building work commence?—October 6.

Then why do you rely in the defence that the work commenced on or about September 11?—It is an error.

It is a serious discrepancy. It is a difference of nearly three weeks.

You say that you suggested that the house should be put back to allow of a veranda of six feet or more.—They agreed and they came round and said they wanted the house right up to the road line.

When was it that they came and told you this?—This interview with regard to the veranda took place on July 12.

Was anything else said subsequently about the veranda before the contract was signed?—On the day the contract was signed they wanted the veranda to be six feet on the north side. I told Mrs. Freeman it was contrary to the regulations.

On the day of the signing of the contract several suggestions were made to you about alterations?—One of the alterations Mrs. Freeman wanted was a veranda of six feet on the north side. I suggested four feet. Before the plans were given to the contractor the size of the veranda was four feet.

Can you tell me why it is that the contractor said that the veranda was to be more than six feet?—I remember he said four and a half feet.

The contractor would be quite wrong that the veranda was to be six feet?—Yes.

The case is proceeding.

LU YUNG-HSIANG ASSUMES DUTIES OF NEW OFFICE

Program For Rehabilitation Set Forth In Telegram To Provinces

A program for the Rehabilitation of Chekiang was announced yesterday by General Lu Yung-hsiang, retired Tuchun and newly elected Director of Chekiang, in a circular telegram sent out upon assumption of his new duties. The installation ceremony took place at the old Tuchun's Yamen on Hsin Wu Road. He received a congratulatory message from Premier W. W. Yen yesterday.

The staff of the yamen was slightly reorganised to carry out the new functions which will be carried out by three departments. The text of General Lu's telegram is as follows:

I have this day assumed the duties pertaining to the office of the Director of Chekiang Rehabilitation. The following will be the constitution under which the directorate will operate:

1. Following the abolition of the tuchunate, the Chekiang province will stand no interference from any other interest, in order to prevent any attempt at the restoration of the tuchunate or any other system similar to it.

2. All troops must remain at their original post to maintain the peace and order of their territory. Should any forces from outside the province attempt to come within the territorial boundaries the directorate shall adopt such measures as it sees fit in accordance with the will of the public.

3. After the abolition of the Tuchunate and before the creation of a legal central government in China, all administrative bureaus of Chekiang shall maintain their own status quo.

4. Due to the importance of disarmament, the question of disbanding superfluous troops will not be taken up until a legally constituted central government is established and a general plan is adopted for the disbanding. However, during the rehabilitation period, plans will be formulated whereby the soldiers may be given the opportunity to support themselves when they are disbanded.

5. All military expenses shall be met with the proceeds of the national revenues. When the legal government is created, the directorate will render a statement of account on the expenditure. But the figure of expenditure should not exceed that recorded before the abolition of the tuchunate.

6. The period for military rehabilitation will be limited to six months.

7. The directorate will have three departments, a legislative council, an executive board and a soldier labor committee.

Berthelot Testifies In Banque Case

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, June 20.—M. Andre Berthelot, giving evidence in the case against M. Pernotte stated that M. Pernotte exercised full power during the war, his competence being superior to that of the other members of the Board of Directors. M. Pernotte, by reason of the confidence reposed in him, was sent to Paris in 1918 in the same capacity in which he acted in the Far East.

With regard to the emission of the Pacific Company's bonds, M. Berthelot stated that he had not been approached in that connection and had not seen the prospectus until the Juge d'Instruction showed it to him. The general idea of the operation had been explained to him but no written contract or letter had been exchanged between the two Banks. He was not a banker and, though he was Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Bank, he was ignorant of the importance of the engagements of the Pacific Commercial and Maritime Bank. M. Albert Gallusser, who founded the Banque Industrielle de Chine, stated that the profits of the second increase in capital were shared in the following proportions; 1,000,000 francs to M. Pernotte, 100,000 francs each to M. Kohly and M. Borel and the remainder to the Dreiswellier Syndicate. M. Gallusser had a little over 1,000,000 francs and the Industrial Bank had the rest.

Veteran Dallas Chosen To Fill Out Polo Team

Oldest Playing Member's Experience And Ponies Bring Odds To Even

George Dallas, veteran polo and racing sportsman of Shanghai was selected last evening to fill out the team which will defend the Keswick Challenge Cup against the Hongkong Polo Club tomorrow on the local field. Dallas is the oldest playing member of the local polo club. He has represented Shanghai often in interport matches.

The Shanghai team at the final selection stands as follows:

McMichael, No. 2
Robinson, No. 3
Dallas, No. 4

Reserves—Hickling and J. J. Paterson.

There has been considerable difficulty in selecting the full Shanghai team for the big interport match. Hickling and Paterson both had been mentioned as likely players. But Hickling's injury from a fall a week ago together with his absence of experience in practice with McMichael and Robinson was responsible for his being relegated to the reserves. Dallas' long tournament and interport experience, together with his speedy stable of polo mounts gave him the place on the big four to represent Shanghai.

The decision to place Dallas on the Interport team was an eleventh hour thing. When the committee considered carefully the speed of the visiting players and their ponies, it was decided to reconsider their previous decision and to place George Dallas at his old position at back. His fast ponies were partly instrumental in bringing about the change, though his large experience and generally accepted ability at the game were large factors in the choice. The match, according to the way local polo men figure it, will be fast and hard, and speed and experience will be needed for a win.

The change of lineup for Shanghai now brings the chances for a win to a point more even than previously. The added speed from Dallas' ponies, and the greater effectiveness both defensive and offensive expected from Dallas' play are expected to even or better the odds for the match.

Shanghai players have not yet announced their mounts though it is known that all four of the local team's selections are prepared with several of the best ponies in Shanghai, many of which are of active racing stock. David and Dallas in particular are credited with ponies of especial speed. Hongkong players each have brought three ponies for the match. C. C. Boyd, Captain of the visiting team, who played for Shanghai last year against the Southerners, will ride After Dark, Ringwood, and Devonport; Captain Fisher, who plays at No. 1 for the visitors, has announced Fash, Surprise and Tonic as his ponies; Mr. J. E. N. Bibby, at No. 2, will ride Springer, Fighting Tight and Winter-light, while Captain Neville at back, will use Benjamin, Han River and Cream.

The Polo Club is preparing for a big attendance for the match tomorrow. The Shanghai Municipal Council has been asked to place all available seats at the disposal of the public, and the S. M. C. band is expected to be in attendance. Mr. J. A. Hayes, former secretary of the Polo Club will act as umpire for the match.

On Saturday Shanghai and Hongkong will compete in a tournament to be played on the American plan. Four teams will participate: The Light Horse, The Army Past and Present, Ewo, and the Shanghai Polo Club. The following men will play:

LIGHT HORSE
Capt. McMichael
Lt. Robinson
Corpl. Gibbings
Tpr. David.

ARMY PAST & PRESENT

Mr. Fearon
Mr. Hind.

EWO

Mr. Bibby
Mr. Boyd

Hopkins Leads In Batting On Local Baseball Club

Percentage Of 371 Best Of All Regular Players; Scott Second With 357

Capt. Hopkins, of the regular players for the Shanghai Baseball Club is the leading batsman in the local league. In the 10 games in which he has participated he has rapped out 13 safe hits in 35 times at bat for a percentage of 371. John Scott ranks second with a percentage of 357, from 10 games, in which he batted 28 times, and obtained 10 bingles. Hirsh stands third with 333 percent from two games, in which he faced opposing pitchers three times for one single hit.

Batters of other years are far down in the table. Maloney, who led the league last year, has been troubled by poor vision resulting from a bean ball lighting on his lamp in a game with the Huron in 1921 when Merrill was working for the navy. He is barely ranking in the 300 class with three bingles in ten times at bat in three games. Bills, another sticker of former years has not yet hit his stride, and S. F. Smith, who was the Babe Ruth of 1921 is far down the list with a mere percentage of .111.

Of the new comers who look like real batsmen, Wynn and Kingman have a 300 average cinched so far, while Wood, Wall, Bruce and Lake have not yet gotten their proper start in the stickwork.

The averages to date follow:

DR. YEN TELLS WHY HE TOOK ON PREMIERSHIP

Tried To Get Out Of It, But President Insisted

(Reuter Pacific Service)

Peking, June 20.—Dr. W. W. Yen, interviewed by Reuter's correspondent yesterday evening, said that it was incorrect to say that he had attended the first meeting of the members of the Government after the arrival of President Li Yuan-hung at Peking. Not wanting the Premiership, he had purposely stayed away.

The first intention was to appoint Dr. Wu Ting-fang Premier and Dr. C. T. Wang pointed out that the mandate must be countersigned by the head of the Cabinet. It was thus necessary to appoint someone Acting Premier and the meeting thereupon resolved to ask him (Dr. Yen) to act as the latter.

Later in the day, the President sent for him and asked him to accept the Acting Premiership. Dr. Yen replied that two main considerations faced the Government, firstly, reunification, and, secondly, the financial stringency. If President Li desired to concentrate on the former, Dr. Yen thought Dr. Wang Chung-hui should be appointed Acting Premier. Dr. Wang was a Cantonese and possessed the confidence of the South. If, however, finance was the first consideration, Mr. Tung Kang ought to be appointed.

The President did not receive these suggestions favorably and again insisted on his taking up the Premiership, adding that otherwise he would return to Tientsin. Upon that, Dr. Yen said, he accepted, as Mr. Li Yuan-hung's departure would have been a serious calamity.

Pair Jailed For Attempt To Cash Travelers' Check

An attempt to cash an unsigned travelers' check led to sentences of one and two weeks for two Chinese who were arraigned in the Mixed Court yesterday before American Assessor Tenney and Magistrate Kwan. The checks were the property of Ralph W. Powell, an American who returned home recently on the Empress of Russia.

One of the accused, a ricsha coolie found a book of the checks in his ricsha and induced the second to attempt to cash it, unsigned, for $10 gold.

Police Investigating Serious Assault Case; Victim In Hospital

Police of the Hongkew district are investigating an assault of serious nature said to have been made on Saturday night on H. B. Jones, a marine worker, who is believed to be a British subject and who is in a critical condition at the Shanghai General Hospital. The victim, who was removed to the hospital on Monday after having been under the care of acquaintances for about 24 hours after the trouble, had not recovered consciousness late last night and as it has been impossible to obtain from him any coherent statement, circumstances of the exact manner in which he received his injuries still are in doubt.

According to unauthenticated reports made to the police Jones had been drinking with a number of sailors on shore leave along Broadway early Saturday night and had trouble with them. A report circulated yesterday that this trouble took place in the Trocadero Cafe on Astor Road was denied last night by Mr. H. Whiddett, Manager.

No arrests have been made in the case.

BRITAIN'S BILL FOR 'LIMITATION" IS INTRODUCED

Measure Has Drastic Provisions On Warship Building

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 19.—The text has been issued of the Bill introduced by Lord Lee in the House of Lords for the carrying out of the Washington treaties on the Limitation of Naval armaments and the protection of non-combatants at sea in wartime. It restricts the building of warships except by licence of the Admiralty and empowers the Admiralty to search any ship, which is being built, altered, armed or equipped, and to seize such ship, where there is reasonable ground for believing that the Act has been contravened. The penalty for contravention is imprisonment, not exceeding two years, with or without hard labor, and a fine not exceeding £100, or both, and the forfeiture of the ship. Anyone violating the rules of warfare against commerce is liable to the same punishment as for piracy.

The provisions cover the whole Empire except the Dominions, India and the Irish Free State when the latter is constituted.

Threaten Boycott On French Academy

Paris, May 6.—For a month a serious question has been agitating all the literary circles and all the "salons" of Paris. It is the following: Will Countess Mathieu de Noailles run for a seat in the French Academy?

I don't think that it is necessary to introduce Countess Mathieu de Noailles. Last year she obtained the first prize of poetry of the French Academy, and Frederic Masson, life secretary of the Academy, introduced her to the audience in the following terms:

"Some years ago—years which I prefer not to count—I made the acquaintance, while cruising in a yacht on the Lake of Geneva, of a Rumanian prince whose name was Brancovan. He had married the daughter of an Ambassador of Turkey and had two little daughters; all that could be seen of one of the little girls were her large black eyes, which seemed to have absorbed the whole of her little white face. Later this little black-eyed girl came to Paris, where she married a nobleman bearing one of the great names of France. She became the Countess Mathieu de Noailles. She wrote poems, some of which are masterpieces. She sang of love, of the joy of living and of the terror of death. She sang "L'Ombre des Jours" (The Shadow of the Days), "Les Vivants et les Morts" (The Dead and the Living), "Les Forces Eternelles" (the Eternal Forces), in verses which she sometimes left unfinished, as one would a wreath of flowers. She enjoys all that surrounds her and all that charms her vision; she enjoys Nature, its flowers, its fruits and its vegetables; she leaves nothing aside which is pleasing to her sight, that sings in her ears, that vibrates in her heart." . . .

Seldom had the Academy heard such praise expressed. Never had the Academy heard the word "masterpiece" pronounced respecting the work of a living author, and particularly relative to that of a woman. So at the end of the sitting every one was heard to ask his neighbor: "Will Countess Mathieu de Noailles run for a seat in the French Academy?" This same question was asked even more so a few weeks later, when the news of the election of Mme. de Noailles as a member of the Belgian Academy reached Paris. It is even asked more eagerly today when a seat is vacant and an election shortly pending.

I think it preferable to reply at once to the question.

It is possible that Countess Mathieu de Noailles will run for a seat in the French Academy, but it is an injustice. When, in 1636, Cardinal Richelieu founded the French Academy, he merely stipulated that it was to be the guardian of the French language and that it had to write a dictionary poetics and a grammar. The only question which should therefore arise in the case of the Countess Mathieu de Noailles is to know whether she will safeguard the French language adequately, if she will write a good dictionary, poetics and a grammar. To this the life secretary of the French Academy has replied in anticipation by solemnly proclaiming that she wrote poems, of which some are near to being masterpieces. Therefore, Mme. de Noailles should be elected. But, alas! Mme. de Noailles is a woman, and the members of the Academy are all men, and they are all Frenchmen, which means that for them tradition is a sacred thing. Tradition ordains that since three centuries none but men have ever sat in the Academy. In France tradition prevails over all else, even over talent. Owing to tradition, Mme. de Noailles will not sit in the Academy.

French women are perfectly well aware of this. They are indignant about it. And one of them, Mme. Aurel, who holds a big literary salon in Paris, has recently expressed a most terrible threat.

"If," says she, "Mme. de Noailles is not elected, just because she is a woman, I suggest that all French women boycott the Academy, and that not a single one ever assist again at their solemn sitting."

An awful prospect, this, is it not? What would become of the solemn sittings of the Academy without the presence of the women, who form four-fifths of the audience? What would the Academy itself become, where women in all times have enacted a great role as electoral managers? Frederic Masson foresaw the action and declared:

"If the women boycott us we shall be revenged on them in our speeches by redoubling our amiabilities and attentions toward them."

This is also a tradition. Men never think so much about women as when they are absent.

NOTICE

The presence in the French Concession of wandering dogs constitutes, at this time of the year, a particularly grave danger. Many cases of hydrophobia have been notified.

In these circumstances special intructions have been given to the Police to organize, as from today, battues in which all ownerless dogs found in the streets of the Concession will be, if it is possible, taken and put in pound, or, if not, killed on the spot.

Residents in the French Concession, who will certainly appreciate the imperative necessity of this measure, are asked to take care that their dogs are not allowed out without muzzles.

They will also render a great service to the community if they will notify the Police or Sanitary Department of all cases of the death of suspected dogs occuring at their houses or in the neighbourhood.

(Signed) A. WILDEN,
Consul General de France.

Spot and forward bar silver were each up ⅛d. in London yesterday.

The New York price declined to 70⅞ cents, and the London-New York cross rate to 438½.

The official rates here this morning were unchanged from yesterday, but as the market was firm from the opening, the Sterling rate was subsequently raised to 3-6½, the Gold Dollar rate to 77¾, and the other rates changed in proportion.

Our market in the early part of the morning was firm.

Owing to the drop in the cross rate, speculators were good sellers of Sterling.

Business was done at 3-7 for August delivery, and in Gold Dollars as high as 79 for June and 78¾ for July-August were done.

However, banks were inclined to buy at these rates and the market subsequently eased off.

Business in the afternoon in Sterling was done as low as 3s. 6½d. for in Gold Dollars at 78. However, at the close the market was a shade steadier, with sellers of Sterling at 3s. 6⅝d. for June and 3s. 6½d. for July-August. There were sellers of Gold Dollars at the close at 78⅜ for June, July and August deliveries.

India bought a small amount of silver in London yesterday, and the market there is reported as steady.

Lead At Highest In Nearly 18 Months

New York, May 27.—Lead quotations have reached new high peaks at 5.63 cents a pound for prompt Western metal in the New York market. "Trust" quotations lag somewhat behind, at 5.50 cents. Settlement of the A. S. & R. strike in the Perth Amboy refinery is expected shortly to affect the premium on spot lead. A strong feature in the lead situation, however, is the continued unsettlement of Spanish labor troubles and paucity of Australian shipments to outside markets.

Zinc prices hold firm at 5.50, but market activity appears to be flagging. Threats of serious labor disturbances in the Connecticut Valley brass mills doubtless constitute an element of uncertainty.

The foreign situation is becoming more serious, although its importance upon domestic production is minimised by the impending tariff barriers against European zinc.

It is reported that Belgian smelters have contracted for 450,000 tons of Australian zinc concentrates to be delivered over the next 3 years. The British government holds 836,000 tons of Broken Hill concentrates which were taken under the agreement with Zinc Producers' Association of Australia.

Copper Metal Advanced Nearly Cent A Pound

New York, May 27.—Copper is still higher quotationally, the producers' combine holding out for 13¾ cents a pound on electrolytic. However, the trade does not look for further appreciable rise, as soon as stock market objectives have been attained. There are new reports of impending labor troubles in the Connecticut Valley brass mills.

Semi-fabricated copper goods, wire, rods, etc., have been marked up sharply from ½ to 2 cents a pound within the past week, although already sharply out of line with raw material quotations. This is stimulating the utilisation of copper substitutes.

American exports for the first 23 days of May are low at 12,873 tons. This is at the rate of 40,000,000 pounds for the month, contrasted with foreign movement of 72,000,000 pounds in March, 49,000,000 pounds in February, and 50,000,000 in January. Germany is our best customer, with March takings of 26,857,425 lbs. Total for 9 months ended March 31 was 239,919,180 lbs.

Is National Reunification In Sight?

BY FRANCIS ZIA

WITH the withdrawal of the troops of Chang Tso-lin from this side of the Great Wall and the re-instatement of Li Yuan-hung in the presidency following the retirement of Hsu Shih-chang, the hope was entertained that if some settlement could be brought about which would unfailingly draw from the Constitutionalists in the South the voluntary acknowledgment that their mission as Defenders of the Constitution had been accomplished, the dawn of a new era of national peace would be assured. Then came discordant notes. A sudden outbreak of hostilities which renewed the gulf between the Chihli and Fengtien factions, the successes of the punitive expedition which was advancing triumphantly under the command of Li Lieh-chun, and the rumor of strained relations between Dr. Sun Yat-sen and General Chen Chiung-ming whose aims appear to be conflicting.

Now comes the sensational report that General Chen Chiung-ming has regained complete control of the Kwangtung situation, and put to flight Dr. Sun Yat-sen and other prominent leaders of the Kuomintang party. This new crisis cannot but lend color to such statements as that General Chen Chiung-ming has been indifferent to the reports of victory sent to him from Kiangsi and that some understanding has been reached between him and General Wu Pei-fu. A liaison between Chen Chiung-ming and Wu Pei-fu is just as permissible during these critical times as the combination between Sun Yat-sen and Chang Tso-lin, it all depending upon the basic motives by which the rapprochement is actuated.

To those who have been deploring the Tuchunate system as being the main obstacle to national reconstruction, the remedy appears to lie in the mutual weakening of the Tuchuns among themselves. With the elimination of a number of Tuchuns in recent years, the centralisation of military power in the hands of a select few has become a reality. Such centralisation is in one sense highly desirable because the power so centralised could be profitably used for the welfare of the nation or ruthlessly abused for ends of self-aggrandisement in either of which two cases there will be the inevitable reaction which will make the military potentates reap what they have sown.

At present General Wu Pei-fu dominates the political situation in the North in that any plan he O.K.'s may be considered in terms of finality. In the South for the moment General Chen Chuing-ming is the supreme military figure whose word is law. Superficially speaking, the fact these two men have never given any signs of being on hostile terms, which is another way of saying that they are friends, should make the prospects of national reunification look particularly bright. Indeed if such an attitude of optimism is justifiable, the nation will have occasion for rejoicings but unfortunately it is just one of those imaginary situations that are too good to be true.

With the removal of Hsu Shih-chang, the way was indeed made clear for bringing about national reunification provided the element of military dictatorship had been conspicuous by its absence and provided the problem of national rehabilitation had been handled with full regard to processes that are compatible with the letter and spirit of republican rule.

Such deference to republican ideas and ideals would have been the case if efforts first had been concentrated on the reconvention of parliament, leaving it a free hand either to confirm Dr. Sun Yat-sen in the presidency—for it cannot be denied that Sun's election to the presidency was effected by the Parliament in Canton that was merely holding extraordinary sessions—or the election—not reinstatement—of Li Yuan-hung as president. General Chen Chiung-ming also could have so shaped his policy of intervention that he would be assured of popular support, namely, by offering his good offices to hasten the reconvention of the Old Parliament, and leaving the question of ruling out Sun Yat-sen's presidency to the M. P's.

But as matters stand, might has been used as a convenient tool to take the place of right which alone could provide a solid foundation for a successful solution of the grave problems of the hour. The cart has in effect been put before the horse. This means to say that Sun Yat-sen or any person who can rally around him an armed force to be reckoned with could at any moment challenge the Peking Government as an un-republican regime administered by a puppet chief executive who was put in his seat by militarists instead of the people's representatives, that is the M. P.'s, and who could be removed from office with equal facility and who rules by sufferance, being unable to act contrary to the wishes of those by whom he was "reinstated" in the presidential office.

It is difficult to see why there has been such feverish haste in rushing Li Yuan-hung to the capital when the Constitution clearly provides that in the case of emergencies such as those which Peking has witnessed, the functions of the head of the Government may be carried on by the cabinet during a period of ninety days within which the convention of parliament and the election of the new chief president should take place. Moreover, the Diplomatic Corps has been notified by the Waichiaopu that the Chow Tse-chi cabinet would so function and no protest in any shape or form was lodged. All considered the circumstances do not warrant the assumption that national reunification is in sight.

"You're a traveller, aren't you?" said the porter.

"You ought," replied the porter, "to carry samples."

THE LIGHTER SIDE OF POLITICS

A troublesome heckler put the following question to a candidate who had dined rather well:

"Would you, if returned to Parliament, vote for the immediate total, and unconditional repeal of the decalogue?"

"With all my heart," said the candidate.

He turned to his agent and asked what he had done to cause so much laughter.

"Done?" echoed his agent. "You've only promised to abolish the Ten Commandments!"

Electrical Device To Chart Air For Aviators—Sun's Rays To Be Utilised For Running Machinery—See Events As They Take Place

BY E. E. HOLLINGWORTH

Aviators will, in the near future, be able to guide their craft, even in darkness and when no landmarks are in sight, by a delicate electric instrument which will show them accurately at any time where they are.

Before many years power for the running of machinery will be taken from the rays of the sun, instead of it being necessary to generate electricity by the means of artificial heat or by waterpower dams.

When you talk to New York or any other distant point, by radiophone, you will soon be able to see the person you are talking to as well as to hear the spoken voice.

LECTURER AND INVENTOR

These three startling facts are enunciated by Bernell R. Ford, an electric engineer of many years' standing, who now makes his home in Long Beach.

I found Mr. Ford in his modest flat on Lime avenue, surrounded by a great deal of electric apparatus, all in small compass, however. He spends most of his time lecturing and demonstrating his many inventions, but has made his home in the beach city for three years.

During the late war he was one of the consulting electrical inventors gathered by the United States government, although he has been experimenting independently for more than 20 years.

Taking the three foregoing statements in order, Mr. Ford talked freely about them, interspersing his statements with experiments which demonstrated each as he proceeded.

SAFETY OF AVIATORS

The device for the guidance of aviators is one which was given considerable attention by the government before the signing of the armistice. This little instrument, which is near completion, consists of a map of the earth's surface, which the flyer will keep before him. By means of a delicate electric needle, which will automatically point out the location, it will be possible to avoid many of the accidents now prevalent and will entirely preclude the possibility of the airman being "lost."

The principle upon which the device is based is in conformity with the theory of the magnetic lines of force which surround the earth, so densely packed together that not even the thinnest sheet of tissue paper could penetrate between them. These lines are stationary, starting from the north pole, running through the center of the earth to the south pole, then out into space to immeasurable distances, then back to the north pole again.

This force is not electricity, yet it can be translated into electrical energy and back again into the original force. While these lines are absolutely fixed and motionless, they exert a peculiar forward influence along the direction before indicated, which is shown to be something like the positive and negative action of an electric battery.

TELL SPEED AND DISTANCE

Mr. Ford claims that it is possible to measure by his invention the number of these lines the aviator will pass when flying, and thus tell the speed and the distance of his flight.

Speaking of the possibility of deriving power from the sun's rays, Mr. Ford explained that experiments for the government at Washington have already measured the heat from the sun which reaches the surface of the earth. According to this calculation, there is shed upon the earth in an area of a circle five miles in diameter as much potential power as the sum of all the potential water power in the United States—in the neighborhood of 60,000,000 horsepower.

POWER IN LIGHT WAVES

"If," said Mr. Ford, "that much power is going to waste in a radius of five miles, who can compute what tremendous power is available when the entire surface of the earth is taken into consideration?"

Illustrating the power which is present in light waves, he has constructed a small instrument, his own invention, which takes artificial light—admittedly less powerful than that of the sun—in quantity so slight that it can scarcely be seen 20 feet away, and from this faint light he generates power sufficient to raise or knock down objects of material weight.

This process, Mr. Ford explains, has not yet reached the necessary perfection which will permit of its practical use in business and manufacturing. He believes, however, now that the principle has been discovered, it is only a matter of time until, through future improvements and developments the world's power load will be hitched up to the sun and thus solve another of the great problems of today.

INCONCEIVABLE COLD

According to scientists, the earth is heated by the sun's light rays, and these are not heat rays, as they pass through some 93,000,000 miles of icy space where the temperature is the absolute zero—or 273 degrees below zero, centigrade. This means, according to the average thermometer, which is on the scale of Fahrenheit, about 523 degrees below zero—a density of cold practically inconceivable to the layman.

It requires these light rays, traveling at the rate of nearly 186,000 miles per second, a little over eight minutes to traverse the frigid void, and when these cold rays strike the earth's atmosphere at its lowest strata, where the latter is heavily compressed, to some 15 pounds per square inch, the rays seem to undergo transformation and in the act greatly heat the surrounding air.

ROBBED OF RESISTANCE

"Just what this transformation is we do not as yet know," says H. Gernsback in one of his treatises, "mainly because we do not actually know the true composition of a light ray." The famous Dutch philosopher, Dr. Kamerlingh Onnes, however, recently found by experiment that, having placed an electrical conductor in an almost absolute zero, a current was started which continued to flow for 19 hours. "The tremendous cold robbed the conductor of all its former resistance and the electrical current, finding no resistance to wear itself out in heat, became a sort of perpetual circuit, which lasted as long as the conductor was near the absolute zero."

Reflectors have already been used to condense heat from the sun, but the plan has proved not to be practical. By Mr. Ford's device the sun's rays are taken and converted into electricity which can be utilised.

USEFUL IN BUSINESS

The third invention spoken of at the beginning of this article, Mr. Ford believes, will not only revolutionise the motion picture industry as known at present, but it will also prove to be very valuable in business.

"Suppose," said he, "that instead of the market reports as now received by wire, every business house so desiring it could be able to see a reproduction of the New York stock exchange, with its quotations being put up and its transactions not only seen but heard.

"This will soon be possible. The principle is now utilised, although as yet very crudely, in the transmission of photographs by wire. It will be made usable by the transfer of light into electric waves and back again. Sound waves will be changed into ether waves, which have a velocity equal to traveling seven and a half times around our earth in a second, and for all our purposes this is instantaneous, then back again into sound waves.

NEWS UP TO SECOND

"By the utilisation of these principles it will be a simple thing to sit in a motion picture show and see the world's happenings as they occur anywhere."

Of course, this will not displace the films entirely, as the reproduction of screen dramas will be continued so long as they are of interest to spectators. But it will mean a change in the character of the moving picture entertainment and make the news reels absolutely "up-to-the-second."

Mr. Ford will leave in a few days to superintend the installation of a huge radio sending station at Calgary, Alberta. This apparatus is now being constructed in Long Beach, according to Mr. Ford's own designs. After putting this station in operation he will spend 10 weeks on a lecture tour through Canada, demonstrating some of his inventions.

If fire should sweep through your office tonight, in what shape would you find your records tomorrow?

These records are the very foundation of your business. Without them it would come to a standstill.

Fire insurance companies pay only the amount of the actual loss sustained on the Day of the Fire. You are required to prove the amount of this actual loss by your records. If your records are destroyed you are helpless.

You should find out what fire hazards exist in and around your building and what you can do to protect yourself against them. Failure to do so may mean disaster.

The Safe-Cabinet is the only type of safe that brings its contents undamaged through the most severe fires.

Clock Time vs. Solar Time

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS
Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest.

"I am gathering all your articles on astronomy and am herewith submitting a couple of problems for discussion:

"FIRST—If the earth is farthest away from the sun in Summer, why does the sun go behind clock time 10 minutes 8 seconds from May 14 to July 6?

"SECOND—On parallax and refraction, as it affects rising and setting of sun, moon, etc., what amount in degrees (vertically) is atmospheric refraction at horizon? Does atmospheric refraction vary with weather conditions?"—L. G. J.

The difference between clock time and true solar or sundial time is due to a combination of two causes: (1) the eccentricity of the earth's orbit, whereby the earth travels faster when near the sun and slower when farther away, and (2) the obliquity of the ecliptic, whereby the sun in its apparent eastern motion in the ecliptic appears alternately ahead of and behind its mean place.

You seem to be taking account only of the first of these causes. If that alone operated the clock and the sun would be together both at perihelion (beginning of January), and at aphelion (beginning of July), while at the beginning of April the sun would be eight minutes slow by the clock, and at the beginning of October eight minutes fast.

On the other hand, if the obliquity of the ecliptic alone . . . If that alone operated, the clock would be together at both the equinoxes and the solstices (March 21, June 22, September 23 and December 22), while the sun would be about ten minutes slow early in February and August, and ten minutes fast early in May and November.

But putting the two things together we get the actual state of affairs by which the sun and the clock are together April 15, June 14, September 1 and December 24. From December 24 until April 15 the sun is show by the clock, reaching a maximum of 14 minutes 32 seconds February 11; from April 15 to June 14 the sun is fast by the clock, reaching a maximum of 3 minutes 55 seconds May 14; from June 14 to September 1 the sun is again slow by the clock, reaching a maximum of 6 minutes 12 seconds July 26, and from September 1 to December 24 the sun is once more fast by the clock, reaching a maximum of 16 minutes 18 seconds November 2.

There is a source of confusion which can be avoided by remembering that when the true sun is ahead in right ascension of the mean sun, or fictitious sun, which the clock follow, it is further east, and consequently must come to the meridian later than the fictitious sun; in other words, the sun is then slow by clock time.

(2) The effects of parallax and refraction are exactly contrary as applied to the apparent position of a heavenly body. The parallax tends to throw the body lower, i. e., further from the zenith of the observer, while the refraction tends to lift the body from the horizon and toward the zenith. Both attain their maximum effect when the body is near the horizon.

But the parallax varies inversely with the distance of the body from the earth. For the moon it is relatively large, amounting at the horizon to about fifty-seven minutes of arc, while for the sun in the same position it is less than nine seconds of arc, too slight for the unaided eye to perceive. Since the horizontal refraction for all bodies ranges on the average in our latitudes from thirty-two to forty minutes of arc, we see that upon the whole the moon's apparent position is more depressed by parallax than raised by refraction, so that her time of rising is retarded and that of her setting hastened by about a minute.

Except in the case of the moon it is not important for ordinary purposes to consider the effects of parallax, but those of refraction must always be taken into account in any fairly accurate work. This, as above said, amounts ordinarily, at the horizon, to from 32 to 40 minutes of arc. This exceeds the apparent, or angular, diameters of both the sun and the moon, which have nearly the same apparent size, so that either of them when rising or setting is usually lifted by about the amount of its own diameter above its true place. It follows, of course, that when the sun has actually set it may still be wholly in sight, resting its lower rim on the horizon.

Several circumstances cause variations in the amount of the atmospheric refraction. It varies with the temperature of the air and with the barometric pressure. The colder the air the greater the refraction; the rarer the air the less the refraction. The two effects may occasionally be blended in such a manner as to entail extraordinary refractive conditions, producing very deceptive appearances.

Probably some of the "earth flatterers" have been led into their untenable opinions about the shape of our planet by abnormal states of the atmosphere greatly magnifying the usual effects of refraction. The refraction is high in the polar regions. The effect of refraction is to increase the length of day by causing the sun to rise earlier and set later. In middle latitudes the average increase in the length of the day is about five minutes.

Aeros Wrecked In Storm At Peking

One Vimy and three Avro airplanes were wrecked when a hurricane struck the aero hanger at Tsingho, Peking, according to a private telegram received here yesterday. The damage is estimated at $150,000. This is the second time when airplanes were destroyed by a storm in Peking. Last year, while the Tsingho Hanger was being constructed, one Vimy was completely destroyed as a result of a typhoon.

Dutch Opinion On Rubber Is Divided

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 19.—Telegrams from Holland indicate that Dutch opinion is divided on the question of rubber restriction. The rubber growers of Sumatra are opposing restriction on the ground that the cost price of rubber, in consequence, would rise to such an extent that it would be very doubtful whether the price of rubber would increase in like proportion.

The large Sumatra tobacco companies, with rubber interests, are in favor of restriction.

H. EUGENE COX, dismissed as principal of the Westport (Mass.) High School on charges of insubordination, declared he was ousted because of the jealousy of a woman teacher, Miss Dorothy Chase. Miss Chase, replying to his charges, declares he paid more attention to baseball and dancing than to teaching.

Royal Dutch Oil Co. Shows Big Profit

(Reuter's Service)

Amsterdam, June 19.—The Royal Dutch Petroleum Company's report, while recording a sharp decline in profits which totalled 104,000,000 guilders net, against 129,000,000 guilders previously, says that owing to the strong financial position the authority to pay dividends in scrip had not been used.

The proposed dividend of 31 percent was possible owing to the Company largely benefiting by this wise policy. It is hoped that the Government would realise its promise to abolish the export duties which have prevented the carrying out of plans to increase Dutch East Indies production.

The report refers to a considerable increase in production in Sarawak. A strong denial was given to the stories of a separate Royal Dutch agreement with the Soviet Government.

Dye Corporation Objects To Inquiry

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 19.—In the House of Commons today, asked to appoint a select committee to hold an independent inquiry into the affairs of the British Dyestuff Corporation in view of the resignation of the technical experts, Mr. Stanley Baldwin, President of the Board of Trade, replied that this was a large industrial company in which the Government had important interests.

He thought that Government investigations of the affairs of commercial companies did not make for commercial success.

Mr. Baldwin refused to reply to a supplementary question asking what instructions the Government had given to the nominees on the Board with regard to the use of their proxis at the forthcoming annual meeting.

COMMONS VOTES BIG MAJORITY FOR PREFERENCE

Amendment For Removal Lost By Vote Of 262 To 84

(Reuter Service)

London, June 19.—In the House of Commons today, at the committee stage of the Finance Bill, Major Mackenzie Wood moved an amendment with a view to abolishing Imperial preferences.

The amendment was rejected by 262 votes to 84.

In the course of the discussion in which the preferences on tea and sugar were particularly criticised Mr. Josiah Wedgwood said that the Labor Party was opposed to the attempt to bind the Empire by means of preferences for which the consumer had to pay.

Sir Robert Horne said that this was not a question of imposing but of reducing tariffs. Preferences resulted in cheapening the people's food and in creating employment by increasing trade with the Dominions on whose markets we must nowadays rely.

The advantages of preferences in the Dominions were notorious. The manner in which the United States was building up trade on a basis of preferences was becoming a serious menace to British industries.

Sir Robert Horne asserted that the removal of preferences to the Dominions would shake the fabric of the Empire.

Major Mackenzie Wood said that, although we had given India preference in respect to tea, she had retaliated by imposing protective duties on cotton.

Mr. Alexander Lyle-Samuel declared that Imperial preference on tea had resulted in a loss of £10,000,000 revenue and had given no advantage to the consumer.

Sir Robert Horne, replying, said that the original reduction of the tea duty from one shilling to ten pence went directly to the pockets of the people because 90 percent of the tea was imported from the British Empire.

Commander Kenworthy moved a further two pence reduction in the tea duty to six pence per pound. He doubted whether the Treasury would lose by it in view of the possibility of greatly increased consumption.

The Solicitor-General pointed out that hitherto there had been a system of corelation among the breakfast beverages so that tea, coffee and cocoa were equally taxed.

If the equivalent was to be maintained the reduction in tea duty would involve corresponding reduction in coffee and cocoa duties. The total loss of revenue by such a proposal would be £3,000,000 in a full year.

The reductions already made were very substantial and The Exchequer could go no further.

The amendment was rejected by 225 votes to 85.

The offences included possession of dangerous drugs, smuggling, larceny and various breaches of the Aliens Order.
